

18.42. Perfectly rigid containers each hold n moles of ideal gas, one being hydrogen (H_2) and other being neon (Ne). If it takes 100 J of heat to increase the temperature of the hydrogen by 2.50°C , by how many degrees will the same amount of heat raise the temperature of the neon?