

5-2)

Magnetic levitation is always an interesting idea. Consider a metal bar of length  $L$  and mass  $M$  and resistance  $R$ . What minimum potential difference  $V$  needs to be applied across the ends of the bar to make it float in a magnetic field of strength  $B$ ? What condition needs to be met to make this the minimum value?