

Soln 1-4)

The answer is really the same as the last example. From Eb's POV, Door One would open, then Door Two would open; the ladder would then be poking out of both ends. Then Door One would close, then Door Two would close.

